

My name is Angelika. I am 17 years old. I am a very ambitious, stubborn and full of energy person. When I don't approve of something I usually say so. My favourite subject is Maths. I like spending a lot of time on making complicated calculations and solving mathematical problems. I am interested in biology, too. Human body fascinates me because it is very mysterious, even though scientists know a lot about it. I spend my free time on playing volleyball, walking, listening to music or reading books. I often meet my friends. We like going to the cinema or on a concert, and sitting in a restaurant and drinking ice coffee.
